

Maker Faire allows your products and services to be presented to both Makers and attendees whom already understand and embrace the spirit of making. Doing so aligns and strengthens your brand as one that affirms itself to the maker mentality and rapidly growing maker movement.

In-kind sponsorships are available if you have something excellent to trade or contribute to the Faire. We're looking for construction fencing, printing, food, signage, and are open to other ideas. Make an offer.

Media sponsorships are based on agreement to promote, advertise, publicize the event, and be part of spreading maker culture to the larger community. Benefits for this type of sponsorship are custom designed for each outlet dependent on the value of contribution.

Experimental sponsorship is available for organizations looking for unique marketing opportunities to reach attendees and Makers. This can involve hands-on, educational, and immersive activities. As this is a totally unique involvement we will meet with you to discuss.

Cash sponsorships are available at various levels to match the way your business wants to get involved and support the event.

Sponsorship Levels

All forms of sponsorship are greatly appreciated. The table below lays out direct benefits of sponsorship at four suggested levels of support. The dollar amount represents true market value of sponsorship and can include a combination of in-kind and cash.
